

The MAPGA President, John Madden, personally selects this President's Award winner to recognize an individual who has been working hard, "under the radar," to improve our game, our industry, and our Association. Mr. Madden identified Greg Scott, PGA for his work with The PGA in collaborating with groups like former Members of Congress, multiple military fundraisers, and his support of PGA lobbying efforts on Capitol Hill.

Greg Scott, PGA came to the Middle Atlantic Section as the Head Golf Professional at Army Navy Country Club in March of 2001 and was promoted to his current position of Director of Golf in 2003. Greg has supervised the renovation of basically the entire facility at Army Navy, from clubhouse to both golf courses!

Prior to his arrival at ANCC, Greg spent nearly 20 years with ClubCorp, the largest owner/operator of private golf and country clubs in the world at the time. His experience there progressed through positions as Assistant Golf Professional, Head Golf Professional, Director of Golf, General Manager and ultimately to multi-facility management as Director of Operations/Mexico for ClubCorp's International Division.

Greg grew up in Madisonville, TX (halfway between Houston and Dallas). He has one sister, Allyson. His father implanted the love of the game of golf in Greg. So much so, that Greg used to ride his bike a little over three miles a local nine-hole golf course (clubs and all) when he was in middle school. That is a lot of "want to" when you consider how hot it is in Texas during the summer. Greg's dad was his golf coach in high school and they played every time they got together right up until his dad died last year.

After playing some mini-tours and even qualifying for the Shell Houston Open (shot even par and missed the cut), Greg worked four years as an assistant professional at Kingwood Country Club in Houston, TX, earning his PGA membership in 1986. Three months after he got his membership, he got his first Head Professional position at Hackberry Creek Country Club in Irving, TX. After seven years in Irving, Greg moved on to Westwood Country Club in Houston, TX, where he first owned his own golf shop. In 1997, he was promoted to Club Manager & Director of Golf, becoming responsible for all departments in the club. Just two years later, ClubCorp tabbed him to run all of their operations in Mexico.

Greg is originally from Texas, but other than a natural dislike for the local NFL franchise is coming to think of Northern Virginia as home. Greg and his wife Brenda have been married 28 years and have three grown daughters and four grandsons.
